The Board of Health of Chicago employs chemists to sample things and find out what's in 'em. They recently sampled a number of brands of cigarettes without finding them doctored with any dangerous decoctions. The only danger they said is in smoking too many of them. But that's where the danger is. People, especially young people who are not overstocked with sense, who smoke any smoke too many, for the habit grows and a few a day soon become many a day.

Hon. Abram Hewitt, of New York, says he "can't see how Gen. Tracy can consent to be cat's paw to pull Platt's chestnuts out of the fire." Pshaw. He expects a big share of all he pulls out. Hewitt is too busy wrestling with his dyspepsia and insomnia to study up these things, and understand patriots of the Tracy make.

The millionaire as a prospective or avowed candidate for Senatorial honors is not popular in Ohio now. Candidates for the Legislature are pledging themselves to vote against millionaires. We expect Mark Hanna will be able to convince the Republicans who make such a pledge that he is not worth more than $999,999.

The man who at a Paris fair offered a fair girl 40,000 francs for a kiss got the kiss and got fooled, too, for instead of kissing him as he expected, the girl presented her cheek (which was quite cheeky, although it was for a charitable object) and let him do the kissing. She yanked in the 40,000 francs all the same.

About Large Cargoes of Cotton.

It was announced in the Charleston papers recently that the British steamship Idar had reached that port, and that she would carry to Bremen 18,000 bales of cotton. She cleared for Bremen Saturday, as is learned from the News and Courier, with 12,800 bales, "the largest cargo of cotton that was ever placed on one vessel in Charleston harbor." This was 700 bales short of expectations. Wilmington has beaten that by 1400 bales, the British steamship Sahara having cleared from this port October 6th with a cargo of 13,700 bales of upland cotton.

Died of His Injuries.

Henry Neal, the colored man who was scalded by the bursting of a steam pipe on the steamboat F. & F. last Friday night, died at the Marine Hospital early Sunday morning. He was burned on his face, neck, arms and about his chest and legs. He probably also inhaled a good deal of the hot steam, but the external injuries alone were sufficient to produce death, especially when reinforced by the discomforts of a long journey in a wagon. When he was taken to the hospital the skin was hanging down over his hands like a pair of black gloves. It is said that persons who are badly burned do not feel any pain, and this is substantiated by Neal's experience. He was perfectly conscious during his last hours, and said that he felt no pain whatever.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Mr. Walter A. Galloway Run Over by a Shifting Engine on the W. & W. Railroad and Fatally Injured—Died at the City Hospital—Funeral This Morning at 10.30 O'clock.

Mr. Walter A. Galloway, a young white man of this city, was run over and fatally injured Sunday afternoon by shifting engine No. 14, on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad; but the circumstances which led to his death are as deeply shrouded in mystery as the accident was fatal.

Sunday afternoon about 6 o'clock, on the side-track of the Atlantic Coast Line under Fourth street bridge, Mr. Galloway said good-bye to two friends Messrs. Chas. Collins (not ex-policeman C. E. Collins), and Mr. Geo. Silvey, in whose company he had been for several hours, and walked up the track. It is supposed to go to the residence of his sister, Mrs. A. H. Croom, near the Robt. Portner Brewing establishment, where he was in the habit of taking tea Sunday evenings. When the unfortunate youth parted with his two friends it was about an hour before the accident, yet it is said that he was last seen alive twenty minutes before the fatal occurrence. But the facts in the case as so far gathered are as follows:

Sunday afternoon about 7 o'clock engine No. 46 was on a side track shifting, and switched on to the Wilmington and Weldon track, and on to a cross-track, and then shifted on to the W., C. & A. Railroad track, of course stopping each time to allow the switchman to turn the different switches. After the engine had entered upon the main track of the W., C. & A. Railroad, Engineer C. D. Wooten moved the engine slowly back, but it had hardly gotten forty feet from the cross track, which connects the two main tracks, before a yell from the switchman, a colored man, who was standing on the rear of the engine, made Mr. Wooten bring the locomotive to a standstill and jump from the cab to ascertain what was the matter. It was then that the mangled and bleeding form of young Galloway was taken from beneath the wheels of the engine. His head and body were between the two rails uninjured, but his right leg was severed at the knee, while only a thread of skin connected the left leg with the body. A physician was sent for, and Dr. J. T. Schonwald responded, and administered chloroform to the unfortunate youth Young Galloway was then removed to the city hospital, where Drs. Schonwald, Bullock and Zachary held a consultation and decided that an operation was necessary, which was later performed. At 10.30 o'clock, however, young Galloway died, in spite of all possible medical aid.

There is no telling how the accident happened, and theories in a matter of this kind are perfectly nonsensical.

The scene of the accident was on the W., C. & A. railroad track, running parallel with the W. & W. railroad track, between Seventh and Eighth streets, about forty feet from a cross track connecting the two lines, and at a point which, at the time of the accident, was extremely dark—not only on account of the night, but by shadows cast from high embankments, trees and houses. There were five persons on board the engine when the accident occurred, engineer Wooten and fireman Axem (the latter colored), assistant yard master T. A. Branch, a colored man, a coupler on the front of the engine, and the switchman, also a colored man, on the rear of the engine. The switchman states that he saw nothing whatever on the track until he heard the cry of the unfortunate young man.

Mr. Charles Collins was seen by a STAR representative last night, and stated that he parted with the deceased as described above.

The funeral services, which were held last night at 7.30 o'clock, were very sad. The unusual hour—night when the gloom of the surroundings answered to the gloom in the hearts of the audience, the horrible manner in which death had come, the solemn countenances of the large number of people who thronged the piazza, the doorways and the hall in which the dead and maimed body lay, all combined to make the occasion one long to be remembered. Rev. J. W. Kramer, pastor of Brooklyn Baptist Church, officiated, and the hymns were rendered by a double quartet consisting of Charles Smith, Reilly Smith, Jacob Strickland, John T. Yates, Wm. Hawkins, Sam Bessant, Wm. Litgen, Jos. Lane.

The remains will be sent to Southport this morning on the steamer Wilmington. The pall-bearers, Messrs. Amos Redd, Geo. Silvey, E A. Hughes Jas. Padrick, W. H. Hancammon and Ed. O Allen will meet at the residence at 8 a.m

Soliciting Committee Appointed by Direction of the Associated Charities.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associated Charities was held yesterday at noon. The main business before the directors was the appointment of Soliciting Committees and to determine the territory to be canvassed by each committee. Appointments were made as follows: Rev. W. B. Oliver, Col. Roger Moore, and Mr. Oscar Pearsall, to canvass Water street and intersecting streets up to Front; Dr. S. Mendelsohn, Mr. J. C. Stevenson, and Mr. Walter MacRae, to canvass Front and intersecting streets up to second; Rev Father C. Dennen and Dr. S. P. Wright to canvass Fourth street and other business houses in the city not in the territory of the other committees.

The committees are going to canvass the city thoroughly and they hope to receive liberal encouragement in their efforts in behalf of this most worthy object.

TO VISIT THE HOLY LAND.

A Trip Contemplated by Rev. Dr. Hoge, of the First Presbyterian Church.

At a congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church, held Sunday after the regular morning service, the Church endorsed the action of the Session in granting the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. H. Hoge, a leave of absence of four and a half months to gratify a long cherished desire—that of visiting the Holy Land.

Dr. Hoge, in company with Rev. R. E. Caldwell, of Winston, and others, will leave New York in the latter part of January on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm Second, the trip being conducted by Henry Gaze & Son, of New York, tourist agents. The vessel will sail direct for the Mediterranean, touching at Gibraltar and landing at Naples. From Naples and Pompeii the party will go to Brindisi, where they will take ship for Alexandria. Up the Nile then to Cairo, getting a glimpse of the pyramids and other objects of historic interest in ancient Egypt and the tourists are on their way back to Alexandria and ready to sail to Joppa, whence they go to Jerusalem. Here and in neighboring places rendered interesting to the pilgrims from so many sacred associations a good part of the time will be spent.

The next movement will be to the north through Samaria and Galilee, with side trips to the Dead Sea and the Jordan Valley and excursions to Nazareth, the Sea of Galilee and other places, and then to Damascus. From Damascus the course of the party will be westward across the ranges of Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon, reaching the coast at Beyrut after having visited the ancient ruins at Baalbec. From Beyrut then by sea to Smyrna, Ephesus, Constantinople, and Athens and to Italy again, this time to visit the Eternal City, Venice, Milan and Genoa. Here two ways are before the tourists, to take the same ship to New York, or go by rail through Switzerland to Paris, London, Southampton, and from the last named city to sail for America, the North Carolina contingent getting back, home about June 1st.

Brunswick Bridge and Ferry Company.

The Brunswick Bridge and Ferry Company is forging to the front.

Yesterday afternoon a STAR representative was invited by Mr. A. B. Cook, superintendent of the company, to take a trip across the river and look at the new ferry boat, which the company has just completed, at a cost of $100. The boat is certainly a beauty in appearance, and is named Virginia Taylor, in honor of the daughter of Col. Walker Taylor, president of the company. It is the workmanship of Mr. E. J. Piver, of Southport, and will accommodate about twenty-five people. The boat is painted in two colors, green and white, and the fastenings are entirely of copper. Four different kinds of wood were used in its construction—red bay for the stems, white oak for the ribs, juniper for the planking and ceiling, and ash for the fenders.

The bedding of the road of the company is now in perfect condition, while the bridge known as the Brunswick river bridge, connecting Brunswick county with Eagles' Island, has been thoroughly repaired and is virtually a new bridge.

INSURANCE WAR.

Southeastern Tariff Association Against the Southern Stock Mutual at Greensboro.

The Southeastern Tariff Association has issued a new and reduced insurance tariff for Greensboro. They claim that this has been made necessary to meet competition from the Southern Stock Mutual, a North Carolina company with headquarters at Greensboro, which, it is said, allows its patrons a rebate of about 30 per cent. The Insurance Herald expresses the opinion that reduced tariffs will be established in all North Carolina towns in which the home companies offer lower rates than those of the companies that are members of the Southeastern Tariff Association. This means, doubtless, all towns in which the Southern Stock Mutual is doing business. Well, "competition is the life of trade," but the question arises, is the object of the movement to drive the home company out of business; and if successful in this, will the reduced rates be continued in force?

The Seamen's Reading Room.

Sunday was a day of note in the history of the Seamen's Friend Society of this port. The new reading room, in the second story of the Seamen's Home, was formally opened by religious services therein, conducted by Rev. A. D. McClure and Rev. J. Carmichael, D. D., assisted by a choir, composed of Col. W. J. Woodard, Mr. Alex Holden, Miss Calloway and Mrs. Will Latta, who rendered beautiful music, which was most thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The solo, "Consecration," sung by Mrs. Latta, with charming pathos and sweetness, produced a most profound impression upon the audience, which was very largely composed of sailors.

The friends of the Seamen's Home have good reasons to be thankful for this auspicious reopening of the reading room, where the sailors in port are always welcome, and where they will find much to interest and amuse them.

Steam Tug Homer.

The steam tug Homer, Capt. Lane, New York to Jacksonville, put in at this port yesterday to coal. She will go out as soon as there is promise of favorable weather. The Homer belongs to the Wilson Cypress Company, and is bound south to tow rafts for the company.

Account District Conference and Sunday School Convention, Lumberton, N. C., October 25 30, 1897, the Seaboard Air Line will sell tickets to Lumberton from Wilmington at rate of $3.45 for the round trip. Tickets on sale October 24th and 25th. Final limit October 31st, 1897.

A SILVER WEDDING.

Celebrated Last Evening by Mr. and Mrs. B. H. J. Ahrens, of Wilmington.

Twenty-five years ago occurred the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. J Ahrens, Rev. Dr. G. D. Bernheim officiating. Last night Dr. Bernheim, assisted by Rev. K. Boldt, officiated again at a wedding—this time the silver wedding—of the same happy couple. The exact anniversary was Sunday, but the festivities were postponed until last night.

The residence, on corner of Seventh and Market, was ablaze with light and thronged with friends of the family. The center of the party was of course Mr. and Mrs. Ahrens. Time has dealt very gently with both of them, and the congratulations that they received could well have been accompanied with confident expectations that they would live to celebrate their golden wedding. The bride wore black satin trimmed in white embroidered chiffon and on her brow rested a solid silver wreath, a gift brought from Germany by Mr. Ahrens on his last trip. A brother in Germany had remembered the happy occasion with a beautiful pearl breast-pin. In fact, all the presents, and they were a great many, were handsome and appropriate, especially so one given by the Evening Star Whist Club, a silver spoon-holder.

Nothing was left undone that would contribute to the happiness of the guests, reporters included. There was a table loaded with good things, fragrant Havanas for those who indulged, and dancing for the younger people to music by Prof. P. Cianciarulo's Italian string band. It was far in the night when the last happy guest took his departure.

Three Small Fires.

Two alarms of fire were sent in Sunday. At 3 30 o'clock in the morning two one story frame houses on Eighth street, between Brunswick and Hanover, owned and occupied by Noble Milton and Isaac Lane, both colored, were discovered on fire and an alarm was sent in from box 19, Eighth and Hanover streets. The fire department responded promptly and succeeded in suppressing the flames, not, however, before considerable damage was done to both houses and contents. Milton carried a $500 insurance policy on his house and contents, and the residence of Lane was insured for $200.

During the high wind Sunday afternoon an alarm of fire was sent in from box 43. Front and Orange streets, about 5.30 o'clock, on account of a one-story frame dwelling in an alley, between Dock and Orange, Front and Second streets, being on fire, caused by a defective flue. The firemen, realizing the damage that would be accomplished if the high wind prevailing at that time was to secure the master hand, worked manfully and succeeded in confining the flames to the building on fire. The house was owned by Mr. Alonzo Blake and occupied by Tillie Taylor, colored.

A small fire, which, however, did not amount to much, was discovered yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock in a house on Dock street, between Third and Fourth. An alarm was sent in from box 48. Fifth and Orange streets.

Charged with Larceny.

Saturday night about 7.30 o'clock Martha Hill, colored, accompanied by her husband, Robert Hill, while down the street shopping, stopped at a stand kept by an Assyrian woman, Mary Warrock, near Front and Dock streets, to make a purchase. While examining some of the goods offered for sale Martha saw the Assyrian woman stoop down and pick up a ten-dollar bill, and upon looking into her pocket-book she discovered that a ten-dollar bill which her husband had given her was missing. In the meantime the Assyrian woman went into a store close by, kept by some of her friends, and, although several bystanders saw her pick up the ten-dollar bill, yet she would not part with the money.

Yesterday a warrant was sworn out for the Assyrian woman, and she was arrested and brought for trial before Justice McGowan yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Herbert McClammy, Esq., appeared for the defendant and raised the point that the money picked up by the defendant was not identified (which had not been done), as the moneylost by Martha Hill, and consequently, in accordance with the ruling of the higher courts, Justice McGowan discharged the defendant.

Robinson and Franklin Bros'. Circus.

Advertising Car No. 4, of the John Robinson and Franklin Bros.' Circus arrived in the city yesterday with nine men on board, who, by sundown yesterday afternoon had every available space around the city covered with flaring bills announcing the coming of the show on the first of next month. Last night two men, mounted on a high step-ladder, conveyed around town in a cart, "sniped" circus posters on the telephone and telegraph wires. Advertising Car No. 3, with fifteen men on board, will arrive next Monday, and a force of hands will be at once sent out to replace all posters that have been torn down, and if possible to post bills at new places.

Justice Fowler's Court.

Justice Fowler disposed of the following cases yesterday:

Annie Graham, colored, charged with larceny, gave a $50 bond for her appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.

James Anderson, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was adjudged not guilty, and the prosecution was deemed malicious. Frank Robbins, colored, the prosecutor, was taxed with the costs of the action. The same defendant was found guilty of assault and battery and disorderly conduct, but was let off upon payment of costs.

A most exciting bicycle race, which proved to be the event of the season, was run by two officers from aboard the steamer Kirkhill, now loading with cotton at this port. The contestants were W. Ewing, second engineer, and Robt. Steele, second officer. The run was from the first toll gate to the third and return to the second. The distance was nine miles and the race was won by W. Ewing in 33 minutes, but was followed closely by Mr. Steele.

Excursions to Nashville Centennial.

Mr. G. McP. Batte, S. A. L. travelling passenger agent, was here yesterday. He informs the STAR of two grand personally conducted excursions to be run over the Seaboard to the Nashville Centennial at rates lower by nearly five dollars than formerly. Story of a Tandem Bicycle.

A tandem bicycle was left leaning against one of the sycamore trees on Market street, between Second and Third, Saturday afternoon. It was still there at ten o'clock Saturday night, when the information was sent to the City Hall, and a policeman was sent to take it in charge. Yesterday one of the bicycle dealers claimed it, whereupon it was promptly surrendered.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

TUESDAY MORNING, OCT. 19, 1897

A PRETTY LIVELY CORPSE.

The recent election in the city of Indianapolis was a stunner and at the same time an eye opener to the gentlemen who have so unceremoniously pronounced the free silver issue dead. Last November the Republicans carried that city by a majority of 6,000. In the last election the Democrats carried it by a majority of 5,000, thus making a gain of 11,000 votes inside of one year. While the popularity of the Democratic candidate for Mayor, Mr. Taggart, who was running for re election, may have had its influence in the large Democratic majority obtained, for his record was a good one, the result is an emphatic endorsement of the Chicago platform which the convention which nominated him thus reaffirm while it at the same time arraigned the tariff and financial policy of the Republican party: —

"While recognizing that the issues of the municipal campaign are local and not national, we take this opportunity, the first which has offered itself since the Presidential election of 1896, to reaffirm and emphasize the declaration of the last national Democratic convention in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the historic ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting the aid or consent of any other nation on earth, upon which that great statesman, William J. Bryan, made his memorable campaign for the Presidency. We condemn the Republican party for its failure to open the mills as it promised to do if restored to power, for its enactment of a tariff law imposing new and oppressive taxes upon an already overburdened people for the sole benefit of the great trusts and monopolies, to whose power and wealth it owes its present ascendency in the government; and for perpetuating the business prostration and industrial paralysis, from which the country has been suffering for years, by persisting in the mistaken financial policy to which these conditions are due."

That there might be no doubt as to where Mr. Taggart stood on the silver question he thus delivered himself a few days after his nomination:

"I stand to-day where I have stood ever since the National Convention which nominated Bryan—squarely on the platform. I have declared publicly more than once that the Democratic party having made the issue of free coinage it could and should not take any backward step, but must fight the battle to the end. Whatever doubts I may have had originally as to the policy of free coinage, I am fully convinced that it is the only measure which offers any prospect of escape from the distressing industrial conditions which now prevail in this country."

This made the issue clear not only as to the platform but as to the man, who not only stood squarely upon it but unequivocally and emphatically endorsed it. The free silver men of Indianapolis and of the country are, then, justified in claiming this as a victory for them.

And it is so regarded by the Republicans, and by some of the so-called Democratic gold organs of New York which are supporting Low, independent Republican, with the hope of defeating George, the candidate of the free silver Democrats, and Van Wyck, who is classed as a silver man, although the convention which nomiaated him was silent on the Chicago platform and declared itself only on municipal issues. The New York Sun, ex-Democrat, which is supporting Tracy, Republican, says the issue is really between Tracy and George, and declares that the election of George will be a terrible shock to that "sound money center." In other words the Sun admits that the defeat of Tracy and the election of George will be a repetition of the Indianapolis free silver victory. But the World, gold Democrat, so called, goes further and declares that the election of either George or Van Wyck will be a silver victory, for although the Tammany platform is silent on the silver question its candidate is known to be a free silver man and a cordial supporter of Wm. J. Bryan in the last campaign. The World puts it thus in an article headed "Bryanism is Looming":

"First—According to the most unmistakable signs and evidences, Croker's candidate and Henry George, both having voted for Bryan, both believing in Bryan for 1900, and both now openly running as Bryan men, will have polled together the largest Democratic vote known in the history of New York and Brooklyn. It will exceed even Cleveland's plurality of 113 000 in 1892.

"Second—This enormous vote and the election of the mayor of the sound money centre of the nation, with colossal powers for four years, will give Bryan's friends and Bryan's cause all over the United States more encouragement and hope, more confidence and joy, than any other event short of his own election to the Presidency.

"Third—The New York delegation in 1900 will be his, as are now the delegations from Massachusetts. Pennsylvania and the entire South and West. He will be nominated with a whoop.

"Fourth—While the Bryan Democrats everywhere would be encouraged to persist not only in Mr. Bryan, but also in the 16 to 1 issue, the sound money Democrats in this city and State who went against Bryan last year would be irretrievably discouraged and disgusted with Republicanism. No political evil will seem greater than the despicable despotism of Platt. And tens of thousands of the independent anti-Platt Republicans now struggling through Mr. Low for honest government will agree with them."

The World is working hard for Low, and doubtless part of its purpose in talking thus is to drive the gold Democrats who are supporting the Tammany ticket to the support of Low; but it is right, all the same, in the contention that the Democratic vote cast at the next election will be to all interests and purposes an endorsement of free silver. Tammany nominated a man who was known to be a supporter of the Chicago platform in the last campaign, and a supporter of the nominees of the Chicago convention, which doubtless had much to do with his nomination. It was silent on the Chicago platform not because it was opposed to it, but because it didn't think it good policy to let the Republicans force national questions to divert attention from the Raines' law and other local issues, which are giving them trouble. It was not opposition to the Chicago platform, but simply a question of policy as to making the fight on national or local issues that made Tammany silent on that question, but it substantially endorsed it when it nominated a man for the leading place on its ticket who is recognized as a free silver man, and is now fought by the gold organs as a free silver man. So, according to the views of the gold organs the fight in New York is a free silver fight, and the Democratic vote cast for Van Wyck and for George will be an endorsement of the Chicago platform.

But this is the view that is also taken of it by the administration at Washington, which, through Secretary Bliss, has been whooping it up for Tracy. To help Platt's man, Mr. Bliss recently wrote an appealing letter which closed thus:

"It is impossible that the people of New York have so soon forgotten the danger that menaced them only a short year ago, and are now prepared to make such surrender chiefly to gratify the ambitions of a few men who are irreconcilably opposed to the Republican party, whatever its position, and to send out to the States that are fighting again the same battle which they waged a year ago the message that New York has no further interest in the cause which was gained by such a magnificent concerted effort."

This was a touching appeal to the supporters of Low, independent Republican, and to the Gold Democrats who in the last election pooled issues with Boss Hanna, to come to the rescue of Tracy and save Greater New York from being captured by the silver men. And that is about the size of it. These cities are fighting on local issues, but national issues, and the silver question loom up in all, and loom up conspicuously enough to show that the men who pronounced free silver a dead issue were entirely too precipitate, and that the men who imagine that it will not be a live issue in the next campaign are simply trying to shut their eyes to the inevitable. High-priced wheat may have put the farmers of the West in a better humor than they were, but it hasn't changed their belief that the free coinage of silver would be a good thing for them and for the country.

MINOR MENTION.

Some negroes in this State who are not satisfied with the amount of spoils they got out of the last deal, have issued an address, calling for a convention of colored men to be held in Raleigh on the 31 of November, to formulate some plan by which they can force the white bosses of the Republican party to recognize the services they render the party and make a more equitable division of the loot. They call attention to the fact that they have been whooping it up for the "Grand Old Party," that they cast 120,000 votes for it at the last election, in return for all of which they have got a scurvy little $1,000 clerkship in the Department of Agriculture. They are speaking of the State, for they do not take into account the five negro postmasters who have been appointed in this State. There is a good deal of ground for the complaint these address issues make, and there might be something in it if they would stick, but the probabilities are that it will soon rank with the old chestnuts they have been giving us between elections for years past. There never was a more vigorous kick made by the colored voters of this State than was made on the nomination of Russell, but he laughed at the kickers and "cussed" them out and long before the election they were whooping it up for him, marched up to the polls in jolly, solid phalanx and gave him more votes than they ever gave to any candidate for Governor. The probabilities are, however, that this constant kicking, especially if it be organized, may force the white bosses as a matter of prudence to make a fairer divide of the offices if there be any indications that the colored vote can't be held any other way, so the only preventive the Democrats of the State, or voters who have been Democrats, have against this, is to get together and beat the whole gang, which they certainly can do with anything like a reasonable effort, and a firm resolve.

However the Luetgert trial terminates, it will take its place among the most interesting and celebrated in the criminal trials of this country. The impression seems to be in Chicago that the prisoner will get the benefit of the doubt and cannot be convicted of murder. The jury can, we believe, in the State of Illinois, bring in a qualified verdict, but in this case we do not see how it can bring in any other than a verdict of murder in the first degree, for if Luetgert killed his wife it was that, for all the evidence shows that if she was killed, the killing was premeditated and planned. But the killing has not been proved. The woman cannot be found, that's all; while there is reasonable grounds for the belief that she has been killed, and killed by the man charged with the crime. The circumstantial chain of evidence was strong, but there is a possibility (but little probability) of the woman being alive, and this makes the doubt that may save Luetgert's life. It has been a royal battle between the opposing counsel from the start, and if Luetgert's life be saved he will owe it to the tenacity, skill and devotion of his counsel, who stuck to him heroically.

The latest from London is that the British Government will not take part in the proposed monetary congress, but will have a further conference with Commissioner Wolcott to see what can be done. We suppose this has reference to what the India Government may think it advisable to do. The British Government has been playing with this question all along, fearful to give a flat refusal in the beginning and anxious to create the impression that it was honestly trying to do something for bimetallism, and thus hold off and placate the bimetallists of England. If it has finally decided not to participate in the conference, if one should be held, no silver man on this side of the water will be seriously disappointed, for none of them anticipated the co operation of Great Britain, and it is, perhaps, as well not, for if she did come in she would want to rule the whole business, and would impose conditions that would make the conference a fiasco. If this silver question is ever to be settled it must be done in the heroic way, by ignoring England, and letting her run her own financial system while we run ours. That will be the quickest way to bring her to taw.

— Warrenton Gazette: Cotton-picking is now in full progress Though the crop is somewhat shorter than was expected at one time, the farmers have had an excellent time for picking—no rain to damage it—and the quality should be excellent.

—— Colorado farmers are going about the industry of growing sugar beets in a systematic way that promises success. This is a business that requires combination on a large scale to make it profitable. Where Brides Are Hungry.

How would an English bride care to fast on her wedding day until after the sacred ceremony, and this after enduring the hardships of a farewell party given the day before? Yet this is what a Russian girl is supposed to do. As the marriage, to be fashionable, should not occur until evening, it may easily be imagined in what an exhausted state she is to commence her new period of life.

Besides bridesmaids there are bridesmen, these latter being obliged to present the bridesmaids with sweetmeats. A personage follows the procession bearing an elegantly mounted picture of Christ in gold and silver, which is stationed against the altar. The bridesmaids do not all dress alike, and their number is unlimited.—London Answers.

THE SWAT VALLEY.

A Glance at Its Cruel Type of Native Inhabitants.

It cannot be said that the Swati variety of Pathan is a very attractive person, writes H. W. Lawson, in the London Telegraph. Among Pathans the Swatis look somewhat puny and in face not less ill favored. The type is intensely Semitic, and the race here fanatically Mohammedan. It would be unfair to judge of what standard of civilization they may be capable just now, for our system of order has not yet taken root, and murder and theft are still things of everyday life.

Two mornings before my arrival a sepoy, ill of confluent smallpox, was stabbed to death in an isolated tent, and it is to be devoutly hoped that the public prophecy of the political officer of its visitation on the murderer or murderess may be fulfilled. Only a short time since his sais went down to the polo ground in the upper valley with a pony. On the way he was killed by a Dirghar Swati, who evidently wanted to get hold of the animal, but after mounting it took the wrong road and galloped into a party of Sikhs returning from drill. One of them promptly hit the pony over the nose and the scoundrel fell into their arms. By 10 o'clock the same morning he had paid the penalty of his crime. This sort of outrage is common enough, and Swati opinion, such as it is, does not condemn the murder of a Kaffir, white or black, Sikh or English, but to kill a sahib is too dangerous to the tribal pocket and the tribal existence to be lightly attempted.

Before long the district will settle down to a more peaceful state. From an archæological and religious standpoint, this part of the country is full of a peculiar interest, for these Swat valleys were the very seat and center of early Buddhism. No mound is ever disturbed without great quantities of Buddhist relics and objects of worship being discovered. First of all, there are the statues of Asoka himself, then groups collected around him after the manner of the mediæval pictures of the adoration, and, lastly, friezes of a classical kind. The taste and style are somewhat varied, the later ones betraying the usual evidence of Hindoo influence in the grotesqueness of their art. Most of the earlier kind are full of Greek types, and were undoubtedly the result of the conquest of Alexander the Great. At Chukdurra, ten miles beyond the Malakund, there is a bridge over the Swat river at a place where tradition says a certain portion of Alexander's army crossed, coming into India the same way our force went up to Chitral. In the museums some of these Buddhist memorials have been pieced together, and in that way show how high was the artistic power of the artists of early days. Such is the fanaticism of the Swati population even now that they hardly ever bring in a Buddha without first initiating him by chopping off the classic nose. Very properly the finds thus spoiled earn no rewards. It is just this fanaticism that requires keeping in check. The brigade at Malakund and at the various posts and forts is kept at full strength and not without need. Even so, it strikes the most casual critic that it is too near the base and too concentrated to keep the Chitral road as open as it ought to be. A half way house will soon have to be found and furnished.

The "English Golfer."

It can hardly be wondered that the term "English golfer" became one of reproach upon the northern courses. The pilgrims from the south were, in fact, a terrible nuisance. They had no respect for the sacred traditions of the game; they appeared on the classic heath of St. Andrews adorned in flaring "blazers," which filled the mind of the orthodox Scot with loathing; they never played a match, but toiled round the links with pencil and card, intent on deceiving themselves into the belief that they were daily lowering their record. A famous old caddie at North Berwick expressed the general feeling of his outspoken class when he pointed to one of these misguided individuals busily engaged with his card on one of the putting greens, utterly oblivious to the fact that he was delaying the field, while he worked in the higher branches of arithmetic and remarked, in a loud tone of contempt to one of his party: "D'ye see yon man? D'ye ken the best club in his set—it's his pencil."—H. J. Whigham in Scribner's.

Domesticating the Wasp.

At a recent meeting of the British association Sir John Lubbock is reported to have exhibited a wasp which he had tamed during the three months of its semicaptivity. The little creature seemed attached to its owner, never stinging the hand that fed it with sugar, but allowing itself to be petted and gently stroked. Trips into the outer air are allowed to the domesticated wasp, but it always returns to the bottle in which it resides. Truly this was a curious pet.

I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to day stands at the head. Her Ambition.

This incident was told by an actress who was once playing Rosalind in Boston, and playing it, as she fancied, rather acceptably. As she entered her dressing room at the theater one night a note was handed to her which read in this wise:

"Dere lady I work for a dentist but I have spoiled so many of his teeth saying over your part in the play that now I can say it just as well as you do, and I want you to let me try it tonight and see if I can't for the dentist says he cannot have me any more and I must pay for his teeth, and so I must go on the stage and I will be here at 7 o'clock."

The exchange was not made.—Time and the Hour.

COTTON MARKETS

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK October 18.—After making a steady start at 10 to 13 points advance on a better class of early cables than expected, the cotton market became unsettled and very weak, following disappointing later cables public and private, the latter indicating a bearish feeling abroad as the result of advices from this side predicting a very heavy movement at the ports and interior. Advices from the South tended to justify these claims The demand from spot buyers was slack, and offered no encouragement to those who have been looking for support in that direction. The print cloth market was equally destitute of promise. At Fall River the lowest price in the history of the print cloth market was reached Saturday. Liquidation of cotton futures became very active early to day, and continued so throughout the session. Selling for short account was on a scale that indicated increasing confidence on the part of the bears. From the highest price in the morning to the lowest price of the afternoon, the market showed a decrease of 18 points. Shorts appeared to be about the only buyers. The market was finally steady at a net decline of 7 to 10 points.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Evening.—Cotton dull; middling 6 5-16c.

Chinese Sailors and the Fire Drill.

In St. Nicholas is an article by Lieutenant John M. Ellicott, U. S. N., on "What Is Told by the Bell," in the course of which he relates the following anecdote:

On a certain man-of-war on the Pacific station a few years ago the officers had Chinese servants, and although they could scarcely speak a word of English they were quick to learn what was shown to them, and soon did like clockwork the fire drill with buckets. One day there was a real fire. Volumes of smoke poured up from the forehold, and it took several streams of water nearly an hour to put out the flames. When the fire was under control, some one thought of the Chinamen, and, behold, there they were, ranged in line and in plain sight of the smoking hatchway, rapidly passing their buckets along, but emptying them over the ship's side, as they had been taught to do!

UNRELENTING.

I walked with my friend of an earlier time,
Whose guidance I strive to heed,
Who checks my spirits that lightly climb
In praise of some modern deed.
"There are no great men," he assures me oft,
"Like those that we knew of yore.
The senate and stage have completely doffed
The glories that once they wore.

"The pictures they paint," says my mentor grim,
"Are patches, devoid of art,
And the girls are no longer demure and trim
Like the girls who ensnared my heart,
And the tales we read and the songs we sing
Are reflections of other days,
The halos which genius, extinct, may fling
O'er posterity's books and lays."

So I thought to beguile him with other themes
And I spoke of the light that shone
Where the west, aflame with the sun's last beams,
Proclaimed that the day had flown.
Unsmiling, to watch the scene he stood.
Its radiance brought no joy.
"It's fair," said he, "but it's not as good
As they gave us when I was a boy."

She Spoke Latin.

Perhaps, after all, the comic papers have some foundation in fact for their continued slurs, under the guise of jokes, at Boston women on account of their "bluestocking" proclivities. I had never believed that examples were common where they made obtrusive use of their learning.

Recently in a Back Bay car there was an empty seat beside a young lady, evidently of that much discussed class, but who gave no outward appearance of it. To be sure, she had a slightly protruding forehead and wore gold bowed eyeglasses, but there was no azure blue halo visible, nor was she in any degree prim. A young gentleman, evidently a stranger in town, was about to take the empty seat, when the car gave a sudden start, causing him to crowd the lady.

Touching his hat, he politely begged her pardon. With a slight inclination of the head she replied:

"Fas omne est."

I have no doubt my face looked a little blank with astonishment, but the expression on that young man's countenance was a study. A sort of dazed look came into his eyes, as, drawing a long breath which was almost a gasp, he instinctively again touched his hat and murmured, "Thank you;" but he was manifestly in terror during the balance of his ride.

That young man "won't do a thing" but tell stories of Boston women when he reaches home.—Boston Post.

English Naval Troubles.

Those unduly pessimistic souls who have been overimpressed by the series of accidents which have occurred in Uncle Sam's navy should read the Hampshire Telegraph, an English newspaper which makes a specialty of naval notes and news. On one page of a single recent issue the following startling and self explanatory headlines occur: "On a Dangerous Course. Grounding of the Galatea. Navigator's Serious Mistake." "Shocking Accident on H. M. S. Howe. Three Men Frightfully Injured." "Accident on Board H. M. S. Blake. Seaman Fatally Crushed. Two Artificers and a Stoker Scalded." Another headline has in it a certain amount of humor. It reads, "Shocking Occurrence on the Sans Pareil." The shocking occurrence was the death of a gunner who tried to put seven pints of rum under his skin, and succeeded, but did not live to enjoy the proceeding. —Philadelphia Press.

Arms and Legs.

According to the result of many measurements made at the Anthropological laboratory in London, the right arm in human beings is in a majority of cases longer than the left arm, while, on the contrary, the left leg is longer than the right leg. Sometimes, however, the relative proportions are exactly reversed, but very seldom does perfect equality exist between the two sides. The tendency of the right arm to exceed the left arm in strength is somewhat greater in men than in women, while equality of strength in the two arms occurs almost twice as frequently with women as with men.

Science knew nothing of the roc until certain Malagasy natives came to Mauritius to buy rum, bringing with them huge egg shells to serve as receptacles. Marco Polo saw some huge "quills" represented to have been plucked from the roc. They were 20 to 30 feet long.

A submarine mountain range has been discovered in the southern part of Davis strait by the Danish steamer Ingolf, which has been carrying on deep sea explorations on the Iceland and Greenland coasts.

A DUEL AT YORKTOWN.

Two Cousins Cross Swords During a Night Attack on the British.

Dr. Weir Mitchell's novel of the American Revolution, "Hugh Wynne," in The Century, contains a highly dramatic incident. The hero, who is on Washington's staff, obtains permission from the commander to serve as a volunteer under the Marquis Lafayette in a night attack on the redoubt at Yorktown. There he meets his English cousin, with whom he is at enmity on grounds of love as well as of loyalty. The following scene occurs:

To left and right was still a mad struggle, and what with the Bengal fires still blazing and a heap of brush in flames at one side of the redoubt there was light enough to see. Near about was a clear space, and there was a pause such as occurs now and then in such a scrimmage. There were still men who held back and to whom, as I pushed on, I called: "Come on! We have them!" A great wind from the sea blew the smoke away, so that it was easy to see. As I called out to the men who hesitated on the outer slope, as some will, I heard before me a voice cry, "This way, men!" and, turning, caught sight of the face of Arthur Wynne. He, too, saw and knew me. He uttered an oath. I remember crying out, "At last!" as I dashed at him.

I heard ahead of me cries for "Quarter, quarter!" The mass of striving men had fallen back, and, in fact, the business was at an end. I saw Jack run from my left toward me, but he stood still when he saw what was happening, and instantly as he came Arthur and I crossed swords. What else chanced or who else came near I knew not. I saw for the time only that one face I so hated, for the heap of brush in the work was still blazing.

As is true of every Wynne I ever knew when in danger I became cool at once. I lost no time, but pressed him hard, with a glad sense that he was no longer my master at the game. I meant to kill him, and as he fell back I knew that at last his hour had come. I think he, too, knew it. He fenced with caution and was as cool as I. Just as I touched him in the right shoulder I felt a wounded Hessian clutch my leg. I fell squarely backward, my cousin lunging savagely as I dropped. I had been done for had not Jack struck up his blade as I lay, calling out:

"Coward!"

I was up in a moment, pretty savage, and caught sight of my Jack fencing with my man, as calm as if we were in old Pike's gallery. As I stood, panting—it was but a moment—I saw Jack's blade whip viciously round Arthur's and pass through his breast, nearly to the guard.

My cousin cried I know not what, fell to one side and then in a heap across a dead grenadier.

"Better I than thou," cried Jack, blowing hard. "He will play no more tricks. Come on."

With a glance at my enemy I hurried past him over dead and wounded men, a cannon upset, muskets cast away and what not.

"This way, Wynne," said the marquis. "C'est fini! Get those fellows together, gentlemen."

Our men were huddling the prisoners in a corner and collecting their arms. A red faced New Hampshire captain was angrily threatening Major Campbell, the commander of the redoubt, who had just surrendered. Colonel Hamilton struck up the captain's blade, or I do believe he would have killed the major. He was furious over the death of Colonel Scammel, who was greatly beloved and had been killed by Hessians after having given up his sword.

It was over, and I went back to see what had become of Arthur. He was alive, and, having dragged himself to the inner wall of the redoubt, was now seated against it. Jack soon found a lantern, and by its light we looked at Arthur. He was covered with blood, but was conscious and stared at me with dull eyes, without power to say a word.

"Take care of him, Jack," said I, and went away down the crumbled slope and through the broken abatis, while overhead the bombs howled with unearthly noises and the cannonry broke out anew.

A Duke's Snuffboxes.

The snuffboxes presented to the first Duke of Wellington (now in the possession of the present duke at Apsley House) are very numerous. At the beginning of the century a snuffbox was the usual gift bestowed upon men of distinction by potentates and public bodies, and they were showered upon the hero of Waterloo on his return to England. Several of them would appear to have been greatly valued by the Iron Duke, for they contain slips of paper with the names of the donors written in his own somewhat peculiar handwriting. The freedom of almost every corporation of note in the kingdom was bestowed upon him, the formal parchment being inclosed in a handsome snuffbox.—Strand Magazine.

A Royal Delusion.

In mediæval times rhinoceros horns were employed for drinking cups by royal personages, the notion being that poison put into them would show itself by bubbling. There may have been some truth in the idea, as many of the ancient poisons were acids and they would decompose the horny material very quickly.

A woman of 97, now living in the south, recently had a proposal of marriage. She is western by birth, is said to be wonderfully attractive and looks 30 years younger than she is.

Seattle, in the state of Washington, is profiting by the Alaskan gold excitement, and its citizens fully expect that it will have a population of 100,000 people by the end of 1898.

The Galveston News notes as a singular fact, in view of its state's immense herds of cattle, that Texas imports from other states much of the butter it uses.

The municipal expenses of London are $70,000,000. The municipal expenses of Paris are $65,000,000. The municipal expenses of New York are $40,000,000.

KILLING WOLVES.

Some of the Methods Used to Get Rid of the Pests.

Whole families of the animals are sometimes asphyxiated in their dens. A wolf of the gray variety generally makes its home by getting on the side of a dirt gulch and burrowing straight inward until a safe distance from the surface is reached. There her young are born and raised to sturdy cub estate.

When a cowboy locates a den in which he believes the entire family to be gathered, a composite mass of cotton, saturated with damp flour sulphur and other noxious smelling substances, is thrust into the den and set on fire. The mouth of the hole is then filled with clay tamped down solidly, and the imprisoned wolves are speedily suffocated within. In this way from 6 to 10 and 11 wolves, young and old, are wiped out at one stroke.

Another effective method is to bore four or more holes in a flat piece of board and plug them up with beef fat soaked in strychnine. The odor of the fat attracts any wolves that may be in the vicinity, and they lick the fat voraciously until the leavening of poison does its work upon them and they drop dead. Very often as many as a dozen wolves are killed off by this process before the fat in the holes is exhausted.

Strychnine inclosed in capsules is also used. The capsule is thrust into a slit cut in a chunk of beef, and the wolf, bolting the meat whole, falls an easy victim. Steel traps, baited with raw beef, are also tried with fair success.—Denver Republican.

Reading Women Organize.

The women voters of Reading, Pa., met recently at the home of Mrs. William Carter, Woburn street, and formed an organization. Mrs. S. G. B. Pearson was chosen temporary chairman. Officers for the ensuing year were balloted for, and the following were elected: Mrs. George Bosson, permanent chairman; Mrs. Warren E. Eaton, clerk; Mrs. S. G. B. Pearson, treasurer. The society then nominated Mrs. Ellen M. Bancroft for member of the school committee and recommended that Mrs. Gertrude Hussey be nominated as a trustee of the public library. Mrs. Warren Eaton was chosen a committee of one to confer with the proper authorities in regard to having a woman on the board of overseers of the poor. In conclusion, the society earnestly recommend that every woman in town qualified to vote should register and cast her vote at the coming town election.

REBELLION IN CHINA.

Insurgents Devastating Hunan and Kuang Provinces.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TACOMA, WASH., October 18.—The city of Kuang Yang, in Hunan province, has been captured and its inhabitants massacred by a band of rebels forming part of a rebel army which is devastating Hunan and Kuang provinces, in Southern China. August 27th the bandits scaled the walls of Kuang Yuang with the intention of capturing the provincial prison and releasing three of their members confined therein. One band tore down the prison, setting free several hundred murderers and thieves and imprisoned debtors. Another gang attacked the central part of the city, first murdering the magistrate who had sent the three bandits to prison. His entire family, numbering thirty-two, including servants, were killed. The night was spent in slaying and plundering. All Mandarins and every civil and military officer in the city were beaten. The number killed and injured exceeded 14 000. The insurgents numbered 15 000 men, half of them armed. Their avowed purpose is to destroy the government in southern China. The government is greatly alarmed, but has no adequate means of suppressing the insurrection.

FIRE AT WINDSOR, N. S.

Swept by Flames Last Sunday—The Loss Over a Million and a Half Dollars.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WINDSOR, N. S., October 18.—The complete extent of the disaster to the town of Windsor was not fully disclosed until this morning when the fire had pretty well spent itself.

In all the fire swept district, only the court house, customs house and Mounce's hotel stand intact. All the other buildings were swept to the ground as if cut down by an enemy's batteries. The vaults of the Commercial Bank, the Halifax Banking Company and the post-office have stood the severe fire test. The People's Bank vault has not fared so well. The door is somewhat warped and it is feared that papers and valuables have been destroyed.

The bitter cold wind which blew all day yesterday still prevails and unless clothing is speedily brought into the town much suffering will result. Most of the people burned out escaped with little wearing apparel and the cold makes the suffering intense.

Conservative estimates place the insurance at $583 000 not more than thirty per cent. of the loss.

CHARLES A. DANA DEAD.

The Noted Journalist Died Sunday After noon—Aged Seventy-Eight Years.

NEW YORK, October 17.—Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, died at his home in Glencove, Long Island, at 1.20 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Dana's death had been expected for several hours, and his family and physicians were at his bedside when the end came. His condition had been such for several months that the members of his family had kept themselves in readiness to go to his bedside at any moment. On Saturday morning he had a relapse and it was app rent that recovery was impossible. Several times, however, he rallied, but towards night he began to sink. During the night there were rallies but they did not last long. This morning it was seen that the end was but a few hours off. The extreme heat of Saturday and Friday helped to hasten his death.

The cause of Dr. Dana's death was cirrhosis of the liver. On June 9 he was at his office, apparently strong and healthy. The next day he was taken ill and he never afterward visited New York. He was 78 years old. Preparations for the burial have not yet been completed.

GUATEMALA'S REVOLUTION.

The U. S. Warship Detroit Ordered to the Gulf Coast to Protect American Interests.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, October 18.—The State Department has received a cablegram from the United States Charge at Guatemala City, stating that, owing to the extension of the present revolutionary movement into the eastern portion of Guatemala, American interests in that section and American citizens are endangered, and the presence of a warship is desirable. Accordingly the Secretary of the Navy has sent orders to the United States warship Detroit, now in Florida, to proceed at once to Livingston, on the gulf coast of Guatemala, to protect American interests. The Montgomery, now at Staten Island, has been ordered to relieve the Detroit of the work of looking after filibusters.

ACCUSED OF ARSON.

Two Negroes Lynched at Somerville, Ga.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ROME, GA., October 18.—Reports from Somerville, thirty miles north of this place, state that two negroes named Penn and Hazleton were lynched last night. The men were accused of arson and had been arrested by the sheriff and posse. While returning with their prisoners a masked mob overpowered the officers and disappeared with the negroes into the woods. Nothing has been seen or heard of the prisoners since.

THE CUBAN SITUATION.

SPAIN CANNOT END THE WAR ON THE BASIS OF AUTONOMY.

Conclusion Arrived at by the Business Men of Havana and Other Provinces—Exchanging Views of the Subject of Annexation to the United States.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MATANZAS, CUBA, VIA KEY WEST, FLA., October 18.—The business element here, in Havana and elsewhere seems to have arrived at the conclusion that the Madrid Government cannot end the war on the basis of autonomy to Cuba, as there are not enough loyalists among the Autonomists to hold public office. At least that is the claim the conservative Spaniards make. In addition the latter express the belief that the autonomists, even if they were placed in power, would not be able to preserve peace and protect life and property from the lawless elements. In view of this condition of affairs a number of prominent merchants and sugar planters of Spanish origin, in conjunction with several Cubans of prominence, have been holding secret meetings and corresponding with people in various parts of the island, with the object of ascertaining the views of the commercial and planting community in Pinar del Rio, Havana, Matanzas and Santa Clara provinces, as to the future for Cuba most likely to further their interests and those of the island in general. It is expected that the majority of the replies will be favorable to annexation of Cuba to the United States, as the Washington Government alone, apparently, is able to guarantee peace in Cuba and the protection of life and property. As soon as it is ascertained that the sentiment of the persons appealed to is in favor of annexation, a committee will be sent to the United States with instructions to lay the case of Cuba clearly before business men of prominence in the United States and ask the latter to unite with the business men of Cuba in a petition to the Washington Government requesting the United States, in view of the failure of the Conservatives to suppress the insurrection by force of arms and piloting out the impossibility of the Liberals ending the war and establishing an autonomous form of government, to bring about the annexation of Cuba to the United States.

The plan of Senor Sagasta, the new Spanish Premier, to give autonomy to Cuba, far from giving satisfaction here, has greatly increased the feeling of discontent. The Autonomist party, it is pointed out, exists only in name, the actual majority of the Autonomists being in the insurgent ranks and, with the exception possibly of Senor Montoro and a few other prominent Autonomists, the masses of that party are in sympathy with the insurgents.

Consequently it will be seen the Spanish government, which has consulted Senor Montoro on the subject, is finding great difficulty in obtaining even the suggestion of names for an Autonomist form of government. It would be imprudent, it is added, to give such offices to the party known as the Reformists, as the more influential Spaniards hate them and the adoption of such a policy would possibly mean rioting and even worse. Besides, the masses of the resident Spaniards are strongly anti-autonomists and there is little or no prospect of making them change their minds.

Recognizing the difficulty of the task before Senor Sagasta, it is not astonishing that the business community of Cuba is exchanging views on the subject of annexation to the United States, especially as a general uprising of the Spanish element is feared if the Spanish government persists in pushing its autonomist policy, business men believing that autonomy is only the first step toward independence in Cuba, and the feeling of the commercial classes being that annexation to the United States and the consequent safeguards to life and property is far preferable to the establishment of a new republic in Cuba.

Among the newspapers here there is considerable difference of opinion as to the policy which should be adopted by Spain toward Cuba. The Diario de la Marina, in an editorial just published, sustained the policy of autonomy, and credited Senor Sagasta with inaugurating it, while advising the Reformist party to adopt it.

DESTRUCTIVE FOREST FIRES.

Northern Part of Cayuga County, N. Y., Ablaze—Many Buildings and Other Farm Property Burned.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

AUBURN, N. Y., October 18.—The northern part of Cayuga county is ablaze with forest fires which have been raging for the past two days and nearly all the timber in the vicinity of Red Creek, Lowville, Sterling and North Victory, has been destroyed. Many farm houses, barns, haystacks and animals have been burned. The farmers are fighting the flames night and day, but as there has been no rain in the vicinity since last July the parched condition of the ground and the muck in the swamps make their efforts almost futile.

WARM WIRELETS

Mrs. Lucy N. Oakes has been appointed postmaster at Yadkin College, N. C.

The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday advanced the argument of the Durrant murder case, brought from San Francisco and set it for hearing November 15th.

The postmaster's safe at Boston, Ga., was blown open early yesterday morning. One hundred and twenty dollars in cash was taken; stamps and other postoffice matter was not disturbed.

A. J. Frazer, now superintendent of the Birmingham division of the Southern Railway, with headquarters at Birmingham, Ala., will be appointed superintendent of the Pittsburg and Wheeling divisions of the Baltimore and Ohio on November 1st.

The city council at Columbus, Ga., acting upon authentic advices of the existence of yellow fever at Montgomery, has established a quarantine against that city. No baggage or freight will be permitted to come from Montgomery unless fumigated.

Surgeon General Newton L. Bates, of the Navy, the President's family physician, died at the Shoreham hotel, Washington, D. C., yesterday morning from a renal trouble. He was appointed surgeon general about two weeks ago to succeed Surgeon-General Tryon.

Admiral John L. Worden, retired, died in Washington city yesterday. He commanded the Monitor at the time of its engagement with the Merrimac in Hampton Roads during the late war. In 1886 he was retired with the full rank and pay of an admiral, the only instance of the kind on record.

The schooner Donna T. Briggs, the suspected filibuster, arrived yesterday at Norfolk, Va., from Delaware breakwater, ostensibly to load oyster shells for Buzzard's Bay, but she was detained by order of Secretary Gage and she lies at her wharf with a custom house official aboard her.

YELLOW FEVER RECORD.

MONTGOMERY REPORTS OFFICIALLY TWO CASES OF THE DISEASE.

Situation at New Orleans by No Means Reassuring—Seven Deaths Yesterday—Cases at Pater on and Franklin, Louisiana—Six New Cases and One Death at Mobile, Alabama.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., October 18.—The Board of Health to-day issued this bulletin:

"The Board of Health of Montgomery county, with the concurrence of the State Health Officer, report the existence of two cases of yellow fever in the city of Montgomery—Patrick White, 416 Clayton street, and Thomas Graydon corner of Martha and Dickerson streets. There are a few suspicious cases now under observation."

NEW ORLEANS, October 18.—Before 7 o'clock this evening the one hundred mark of deaths during the present period of yellow fever prevalence had been reached. When the Board of Health closed its books last night there had been 98 fatal cases. Between last night and nightfall to-day seven deaths were reported. This century of deaths has occurred from less than 900 cases that have been reported to the board since early in September, when the first case made its appearance in New Orleans. As usual, however, to day's record has been swelled by the criminal neglect of the poorer classiers. The record to day was by no means reassuring. Early this evening the number of new cases exceeded thirty, and the deaths had reached seven. Heretofore the greatest number of deaths on a single day has been nine. The cases, as on other days, have bobbed up in all directions. The quarantine system is still in effect, but it does not seem to restrain the spread of the infection, and the opinion seems to be borne out that yellow fever is not at all contagious, but almost especially infectious.

JACKSON, MISS., October 18.—The State Board of Health to-night issued the following official bulletin:

Mr. Dunn reports from Cayuga two new and two suspicious cases.

Dr. Dabney reports from Clinton, no new cases; one case under treatment and one suspicious case.

Dr. Parnell reports from Edwards as follows: Two new cases, both white; three deaths.

FRANKLIN, LA., October 18.—Two cases of yellow fever have been reported here by Dr. Smith, president of the parish Board of Health.

PATTERSON, LA., October 18.—Some days ago there was a suspicious case of fever reported a mile below the city. The premises were immediately put under guard. Last night the patient died and to-day an autopsy was held by health officer Smith and Dr. Conn, of the Marine Hospital service. They declared that the death resulted from yellow fever.

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., October 18.—Rev. Father Dennis, a Catholic priest, who has been ill for several weeks, died to-day. His physician says his death was caused by an abscess on the liver, though the experts who came here yesterday diagnosed his case as yellow fever. The other seven cases pronounced yellow fever by the experts are doing well.

McHenry, Miss., reports two and Scranton twelve new cases to-day.

Two cases were reported at Pascagoula. No deaths.

Biloxi reports sixteen new cases and no deaths.

MOBILE Ala., October 18.—Six cases and one death is the yellow fever report for the past twenty-four hours. Total cases to date 170; deaths 22, recoveries 106.

The warm weather has had the effect of increasing the number of cases, although the death rate remains small.

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

Case Given to the Jury—A Demonstration by Friends of the Prisoner Suppressed by the Police.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, ILL., October 18.—The fate of Adolph L. Luetgert, accused of murdering his wife and dissolving her body in a vat filled with caustic potash, is now in the hands of the jury. Judge Tuthill finished his charge to the jury at 4.45 p. m., and five minutes later the jury filed out and was locked in the jury room. At midnight not a word of any sort had come from the jury room, and the chances of an all-night wait for the verdict seemed excellent. Rumors of ten to two for conviction, and later of ten to two for acquittal floated around, but there was no authority for either story. The attorneys of both sides were confident at midnight of a verdict favorable to their side, while the opinion of the public was turning toward a disagreement.

The crowd which surrounded the Criminal Court building and jail at night surpassed in number anything witnessed since the opening of the famous trial. By dark the street in front of the court house was jammed and the crowd surged around the corner in front of the jail. Men, women and children lined the pavements in front of the Michigan street entrance and the line extended to Dearborn avenue on the east, and North Clark street on the west. The tops of the buildings across the street from the court building had crowds of spectators and every window in the structures facing the building had its occupants.

Sheriff Pease late in the evening issued an order to keep the crowd out of the building, as a demonstration somewhat violent in its nature was feared when the verdict was received. Enough people got in, however, to completely fill the court room. But three women graced the assemblage by their presence, in strong contradistinction to the crowd of females during the day.

About half-past 9 o'clock the crowds in Michigan street were augmented by over a score of men from the vicinity of Luetgert's sausage factoro. They were assertive and unruly and demanded admission to the court building. This was refused them, but they were so persistent that word was telephoned to the East Chicago avenue police station for officers. The altercation drew a crowd which quickly choked the entrance. Captain Hoffman, of the East Chicago avenue station, sent a patrol wagon filled with officers to the scene on a "hurry up" run. When the officers reached the building they drew clubs, and aided by a score of deputy sheriffs drove the crowd back.

The friends of Luetgert had by this time been reinforced by about 200 other people from the crowds. But they retreated after a few vigorous applications of the clubs. The mob took up a stand near the middle of the street and jeered the police.

At 1.30 this morning information direct from the jury room was to the effect that a disagreement had taken place on both sides, being obstinate, and chances for an agreement before morning being very slight. The majority of the jury is with the State and desirous of conviction. Just how the jury stands could not be learned, but it is now generally thought that the final outcome will be a disagreement.

Lieut. General Weyler will sail from Havana for Spain on Saturday, October 30th, by the steamer Monserrat.

THE STATE FAIR.

OUTLOOK FOR A VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Many Strangers in Raleigh—Fakirs Pouring Into the City—Young Men's Republican Club—The Penitentiary—Great Fall in Temperature.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., October 18.

The talk in this town is "Fair." The city contains a great many strangers and the outlook is for a very large attendance. The fakirs poured into the city yesterday and to-day. They came from four fairs which were in full blast last week. They were at Burlington, N. C., Lynchburg and Norfolk, Va., and Hagerstown, Md. George Vanderbilt's exhibit of cattle, stock and field stuff came on a special train yesterday.

Last evening at the Tabernacle Baptist church the pastor, Rev. Dr. Sims, attacked the secretary of the Fair, John Nichols, for requesting the Board of Aldermen to allow the bar-rooms to remain open all of Fair week. Dr. Sims had more to say against the secretary than the Board of Aldermen for passing the ordinance. He stated that he returned the tickets to himself and family, which were sent him by the secretary. When he finished his remarks Mr. W. B. Broughton, the leader of the church, announced that he would resign from the executive committee of the Fair in view of what Dr. Sims had said.

Grimes' Battery, forty-five strong, will arrive here in the morning from Portsmouth, Va.

The "Young Men's" State Republican Club will be organized to-morrow evening at 7 30 in Commons' hall.

There was a great fall in temperature during last night. Rain is predicted by the Weather Bureau to-morrow and Mr. Von Hermann tells me that the outlook is for a rainy week. He does not make that prediction, however.

Chief Marshal Lybrook and his twelve assistants from Winston, with their horses, arrived yesterday. Governor Russell will open the Fair to morrow.

It is said that the Governor will have difficulty in turning out John R. Smith as manager of the Penitentiary. I learn that Claude Dockery will side with Superintendent Smith.

Mr. W. M. Johnson, a native of Mebane, but for years a resident of Raleigh, has been appointed travelling passenger agent of the Southern Railway, with headquarters in New York.

City Bank of Sherman Closed—Deeds of Trust Filed by Merchants at Other Places.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HOUSTON, TEXAS, October 18.—The City Bank of Sherman failed to open its doors this morning and after a meeting the directors decided to make an assignment. Cashier Hall says the bank has assets of four to one of liabilities. He says the bank's indebtedness is $60 000 and assets $300,000. A petition for a receiver has been filed by E. C. McLean, a strong stockholder.

Pearistone and Son, of Buffalo, Leon county, filed a deed of trust to protect preferred creditors. Preferences are for $65 000, total liabilities about $100 000. Assets larger than the total liabilities.

A. Lowenstein, of Dallas and Cleburne, to-day filed a deed of trust at both places. Preferences $37,768.

Savannah has removed quarantine restrictions on cotton from yellow fever infected territory. The quarantine is continued against passenger travel from infected sections.
